

AFRIKA MANDELA RANCH

NA Sustainable Future for Africa : Caring for the Earth and People

AFRIKA MANDELA RANCH is a place of research, initiatives, and experimentation, aiming to propose alternative and innovative solutions to environmental and community problems, respecting the land and human beings.

Our objectives are: promoting north-south, south-north exchanges; promoting educational, health, vocational training, cultural, and sports projects; reviving the local economy by creating jobs and activities capable of generating income; raising awareness of sustainable agroecology to promote biodiversity and safeguard a still precarious ecosystem.

Project for a Rural Community of ECO-VILLAGES

Objectives:

AFRIKA MANDELA RANCH aims to be the focal point of an eco-friendly production system and the satisfaction of primary needs – food, health, education – for the geographical area of the Rao district where various villages are located and various ethnic groups live.

Stimulating people, commitment, enhancing local resources, and sharing experiences are the keywords of this path, which can contribute to creating a sustainable future for AfriKa and impact slowing down the phenomenon of emigration.

Developing the local economy and providing opportunities for young people to stay means:

- Promoting educational, health, vocational training, cultural, and sports projects.
- Setting up a tailoring school to promote the formation of a women's co-operative and supervise its training in the cutting and sewing of clothes and handicrafts and the rediscovery of traditional dyeing and weaving techniques.
- Creating jobs and activities capable of generating income, specifically through sustainable cultivation, biodiversity preservation, and care for a still precarious ecosystem.
- Encouraging mutual cultural and knowledge exchanges between the south and the north of the world..
