NATURAPAPEL

We are artisans. Both of us elaborate and design each piece we make with the utmost care, choosing paper or snack bags that are highly polluting.

We began creating accessories with different types of fabrics, many of them we bought, but because of the existing competition with this material and because we became more and more aware of the problem of generating so much waste we decided to work with solid waste and stop buying raw materials to create.

It is our goal to create and be part of a community more committed to the environment, making innovative, original, sustainable, and functional designs. We want to be agents of change and inspiration for people who, like us, respect and love the world they live in. We believe that small actions count and we try to involve and act on our local environment.

We firmly believe that we have a social responsibility to change the way we all should look at the issue of waste, and with our pieces we announce to the world that it is possible to extend the useful life of that waste. We believe in the honesty and authenticity of our work that we do only with our hands, we do not use machines to carry it out. We place a primordial place to creativity because each piece is unique and irreplaceable, there are no copies.

For us, children and young people are very important. They are the future and, in our opinion, environmental education at an early age is essential. The youth of today will be the adults of tomorrow and we firmly believe that they already have a collective attitude of commitment to the issue of waste generation and the environment.
