I am Medváczi Éva - Nana.

My daughter called me like this when she was little, so we didn't think much about it when we came up with the logo for the backpack.

For the last 15 years I have been sewing backpacks. Small ones, big ones, from denim as needed or as the fabrics inspired me. Durability has always been important to me - it just used to be called something else. It's a special joy to give fabrics new life in the form of backpacks. Old leather coats, beautiful skirts, dresses, jeans and furs that my grandma used to preserve are used to make unique backpacks. Of course, I'm also enchanted by the latest techniques in waterproof, custom-designed fabrics. Their size is usually 40×32-35 cm. They have a zipper on the back and top and two pockets inside. Of course, they can be smaller or larger, depending on your needs. If you like it, take your pick.
