

TOUCH MENOT

We are a Budapest based company, which started producing organic cotton clothing back in 2015 with the clear aim to make a tiny bit of fashion and production as clean and transparent as it is possible.

Our main goal has always been to create longlasting designs locally from sustainable materials: our textiles are GOTS certified organic fabrics produced in Europe and our accessories and buttons are only made of natural materials.

It's us Dea and András, the two enthusiastic engineers behind it all: designing, cutting, sewing, making the website and social media platforms, going to markets - and dreaming big in general.

We make each piece in Budapest, partly in our own workshop, partly at our partner, Promes 95' Bt., but in all cases we clearly name the maker on each and every garment.

We are focusing on transparency and material sourcing: the more transparent the production chain is the more reliable products are made, because you exactly know who is responsible for a specific part of designing and production, making the products even more personal.
